

Louder Than Words

Against All Authority

you treat the symptoms not the sickness and condemn a whole race for the benefits your system's offering you attack the class and claim you support their ass and still you defend the system that perpetuates your hate your institutions are corrupt your way of thinking sucks we've had enough but our voices go unheard and if we all screamed "fuck the system" well it's just a dream if our actions never speak as loud as our words...louder than words your ethnocentric and racial slurs unmask your ignorance your front is falling down your contempt for the lower classes on your soapbox above the masses you think you're so goddamn profound
