Serpent's Embrace

Agathodaimon

She was the dawn of a new day
The crystal voice inside my head
And at times she showed me Eden
Untrodden paths, a sky that's bleeding

Serpent's embrace
Serpent's embrace

Darkness waiting in her eyes, her gaze Kissed by a fraudulent snake A soul eater - serpent's embrace Serpents embrace

She was the dawn of a new day But all it brought was pure dismay

The sky and sun turned black Nailed black as ebony And there was no turning back No turning back

A golden sun in past times, floating high above Looking back from now, a collection of strange days, for love

And at time I realized

Everything must surely end - some day

Darkness waiting in her eyes
Darkness waiting in her gaze
She gave birth to a worm of lies
A place of shadows mourn
A soul eater - serpent's embrace

Every dawn of a new day
Too far away, but death in cheap
There's a giant, black sun below
Maybe just below the ground, about six feet deep
Beneath the undertow
Beneath the undertow