My War

Agnostic Front

A beam of light cuts through the dark My angel enraged to hate I see what life's all about But I just can't relate Reality will bring you to your knees As life goes on War within my reach... My war War An empty gaze at early dawn Before the morning light Instinct has become mistrust No valves, wrong or right A path of life that left it's mark Like footprints in the snow You can run, but you can't hide You've got nowhere to go
