

Day After Yesterday

Agua de Annique

Today is the day after yesterday
And yesterday didn't go so well
My love came down and assured me:
Sit down I have something to tell

When I met you my eyes hurt
That is how beautiful you are

I don't suppose I could feel this way
If I still have you by my side
By my side

I did not anticipate your candor
Even though I didn't know you too well

You see one door close another door open
But these doors lead me straight to hell

When I met you my eyes hurt
That is how beautiful you are

I don't suppose I could feel this way
If I still have you by my side
By my side

If I just broken all
I gave it all
That is how tired
I don't suppose I could feel all this way