Can't Stop the Rain

When we believe our reality In the words that we say We're all searching for sanity Till it drives us away To that place in the wilderness In the deep of your mind You remember the happiness Wasn't easy to find Why do we spend time alone Why don't we end nights together Isn't it time to come home

I can't stop the rain from falling Do what you must do I can only hope to share The pain I gave to you Gave to you We can climb to another world If we never look down We can join in the avalanche And be thrown to the ground If I'm still a part of your life Come lay your head on my pillow And tell me to hold you tonight

I can't stop the rain from falling Do what you must do I can only hope to share The pain I gave to you Gave to you We can climb to another world If we never look down We can join in the avalanche And be thrown to the ground If I'm still a part of your life Come lay your head on my pillow And tell me to hold you tonight
