

Taking the Chance

Air Supply

You're in between a page of life you never dreamed
The answer won't come from that magazine
This time it's real and you're not sure just what to feel
Who can I trust to say
"Should I give love now, should I take love now?"

I'm taking the chance and giving myself to you
If some thing's not right then tell me I'm wrong
I just want our love to carry on

Sometimes the fear of losing you has been so near
I needed to make this choice on my own
To let love in, when I'm so scared when things begin
Don't ever run away, I feel close to you now
You know I need you now

I'm taking the chance and giving myself to you
If some thing's not right then tell me I'm wrong
I just want our love to carry on

I'm taking the chance, I can't let this feeling leave
I don't want those nights of waiting so long
I'm taking the chance before it's gone

Taking the chance
Taking the chance
Taking the chance
Taking the chance on you

I'm taking the chance and giving myself to you
If some thing's not right then tell me I'm wrong
I just want our love to carry on

I'm taking the chance, I can't let this feeling leave
I don't want those nights of waiting so long
I'm taking the chance before it's gone

I'm taking the chance and giving myself to you
If some thing's not right then tell me I'm wrong
I just want our love to carry on

I'm taking the chance, I can't let this feeling leave
I don't want those nights of waiting so long
I'm taking the chance before it's gone
