Again

Al Green

Well, I'm trying Lord, to be full of Your conviction Sometime temptation has its way Will You hear my prayer, You don't owe me nothing I need to feel You again and again, I hear You stray, yeah

When you think you stray too far And you're afraid to ask once more Remember child that you are mine I'll hear your prayer and take you back again

Sometimes I stumble Lord and sometimes I fall But all my questions Lord, You hear them all Another day with You by my side I have nothing to hide from You, You help me through

Come on, my

When you think you stray too far And you're afraid to ask once more Remember child that you are mine I'll hear your prayer and take you back again

Oh, hey Lord, only want Your deliverance Only time will tell it well You make me feel, You make me

When you think you stray too far And you're afraid to ask once more Remember child that you are mine I'll hear your prayer and take you back again

When you think you stray too far And you're afraid to ask once more Remember child that you are mine I'll hear your prayer and take you back again
