

Change Will Come

Alain Clark

When your world is cold and lonely
And time feels like it's standing still
If when in your heart you find troubles only
Then remember it won't always be a pill.
Change will come for you
Change will come for you

When your hope is gone or tainted,
And your breath is slowly running out
If the picture perfect life you made is over painted
Then remember it will always come right back around!
Change will come for you
Change will come for you
Change will come for you
Change will come for you

Change will come for you
Change will come for you
Change will come for you
Change will come for you
