

When It All Falls Down

Alana Grace

With all those sacrifices
You had to make to get there
Would you say you're happy with your choices
Have your ambitions serves you well

See the flashes blind your eyes
Is it where your future lies
Did you ever think tomorrow

When it all falls down
And shatters on the ground
When your world comes crashing in
Will you begin to doubt

Will you think you're wrong
Standing tall when all is said and done
If you kill your dreams and leave them
To be prayers could you forget

When it all falls down
down down down

All the broken promises
That you never really got to
And all the people that you left behind
All the effort to replace them

See yourself you've come so far
But is it really who you are
Did you ever think tomorrow

When it all falls down
And shatters on the ground
When your world comes crashing in
Will you begin to doubt

Will you think you're wrong
Standing tall when all is said and done
If you kill your dreams and leave them
To be prayers could you forget

When it all falls down

Is it really all or nothing
Can't you really have it all
Did you really give up something
Did you really stop to get rid of

When it all falls down
And shatters on the ground
When your world comes crashing in
Will you begin to doubt

Will you think you're wrong
Standing tall when all is said and done
If you kill your dreams and leave them
To be prayers

If you kill your dreams and leave them
To be prayers

Could you forget

When it all falls down
down down down
