The Hawk

Albert Collins

I remember when I was snowed in and up at old Shire town I'm sure the next tour take me right back through that town Snow was up to your shoulders man and that ain't no lie Chicago wasn't so cold, it would make a Polar Bear cry

Now when you hear the people talk about their bird called The H $_{\rm awk}$

Now I'm gonna tell ya somethin' that'll make you let out a squa wk

Now where I live the weather's mostly warm
We don't have to worry about no snow or if we have a storm
But Shire town sits on the shores of a lake
And when that hawk flaps his wings it make you shiver an' shake

Now when you hear the people talk about their bird called The H $_{\mbox{\scriptsize awk}}$

Man, I'm tellin' ya one thing, they just let out a squawk

But man, you should a been there in the winter of '78'
You couldn't catch a cab down on state and lake
Now, you know that's bad, 'cause that's right in the heart of t

And it was so bad the Mayor had to close the whole town down

Now when you hear the people talk about their bird called The H ${\sf awk}$

Oh man, I tell you, tell you, let out a squawk
