

Love Isn't Love Till You Give It Away

Albert Hammond

Love isn't love till you give it away
And as of today take mine
Losing my heart wasn't losing, I guess
I found happiness, share mine

Caring without sharing is like living without breathing
I don't know how
Without your love to lean upon, I could never stand alone
I know now

For me to be me I must be part of you
No one else will do, just you
Life hurries by like the wink of an eye
Stop wasting your time

Love isn't love till you give it away
As I take yours take mine

Caring without sharing is like living without breathing
I don't know how
Without your love to lean upon, I could never stand alone
I know now

For me to be me I must be part of you
No one else will do, just you
Life hurries by like the wink of an eye
Stop wasting your time

'Cause love isn't love till you give it away
As I take yours take mine
