

Hold On

Alexia

Everyday I live, I try to hide
My fears to be alone
Everyday I live, you know I try
To face my broken life with force
I've learned by now to love
I've found your shining light above
I hold on to your light to be together
Recall the time we were so close
I hold on to your light to be together
With you once again
Since the day I was born, you took my hands
And helped me to survive
Everyday we've lived you gave me your love
And taught me to be sweet and strong
I've learned by now to cry
Inside of me, you'll never die
I hold on to your light to be together
I recall the time we were so close
I hold on to your light to be together
With you once again
You'll always lead my way
And memories will fill your days
I hold on to your light to be together
I recall the time we were so close
I hold on to your light to be
Together now, once again
Together, again, again
Again