

That Pain

Alexz Johnson

Following through
Through all the people I am thinking of you
Riding the waves
And all the fancy silk I'm slipping away
Through and through

My heart
My heart
Knows me better than I know myself
Washing words clean from my mouth
That pain
That pain
Suddenly has left my brain
Raining color candy cane

So what's the point in wishing you're done?
Where does everyone have to go this time
Why we always walking the line?
Chains, stones to the ground
Nothing's there to hold you down

Whatever we do
Who we someday become
We already are that now
And if it's a dream
Stop it from waking me

My heart
My heart
Knows me better than I know myself
Washing words clean from my mouth
That pain
That pain
Suddenly has left my brain
Raining color candy cane

So what's the point in wishing you're done?
Where does everyone have to go this time?
Why we always walking the line?
Chains stones to the ground
Nothing's there to hold you down

Way out find your way out
It's the only light I'll see (2x)

My heart
My heart
Knows me better than I know myself
Washing words clean from my mouth

My heart
My heart
Knows me better than I know myself
Washing words clean from my mouth
That pain
That pain
Suddenly has left my brain

Raining color candy cane