Didn't We Meet

Alice Cooper

Pardon me, But you see, I've seen that face before I know those eyes Unearthly wise I feel it more and more To look at you, Deja vu, Chills me to the core They say that you are the king Of this whole damn thing But that only confused me Said I don't stand a ghost Of a chance with my host And that frankly amused me So let's drink a few Here's lookin' at you, I swear Didn't we meet in the night in my sleep somewhere? Didn't we meet in the night in my sleep somewhere? Gradually I can see Things are getting clear That ageless face Satanic grace This sudden rush of fear They say that you are the king Of this whole damn thing Now they got me believin' Said I don't stand a ghost Of a chance with my host So I'd better be leavin' So let's drink a few Here's lookin' at you, I swear Didn't we meet in the night in my sleep somewhere? Here I am Door's been slammed They're gonna roast my hide Make me bleed 'Til I plead For you to let me die They say that you are the king Of this whole damn thing Now they got me believin' Said I don't stand a ghost Of a chance with my host God, I wish I'd believed them So let's drink a few Here's lookin' at you, I swear Didn't we meet in the night in my sleep somewhere? Didn't we meet In the night in my sleep? Didn't we meet

In the night in my sleep Somewhere?
