I'm your lover, I'm your brother I'm your killer, I'm your friend I'm your teacher, I'm your preacher I'm the reaper in the end I'm your healer, I'm your dealer I'm your angel, let's pretend I'm your jailer, I'm your failure I'm the reaper in the end Along came the spider Crept up beside her Spun his web deep inside her My darkness will guide her I am the spider I am the spider I am the spider I am the spider You're my sinner, you're my dinner My little puppet, let's pretend You're the cure to my affliction My addiction to the end Along came the spider Crept up beside her Spun his web deep inside her My darkness will guide her I am the spider I am the spider I am the spider I am the spider I was born to it Not something to strive for Not something to even admire, unless it was It's done with the greatest of taste Conviction and expertise I am the spider Along came the spider Crept up beside her Spun his web deep inside her My darkness will guide her I am the spider I am the spider I am the spider I am the spider Well, they found my diary today They were appropriately appalled At the discovery of the eight victims

They're now putting it all together

Women wrapped in silk
With one leg missing
Eight legs, one body, silk
Spider, brilliant

We've been in this cell For twenty eight years, Steven We couldn't have done all Those horrible things

Yes, I know
I know what you always say
You trap, you kill, you eat
That's what a good spider does

You trap, you kill, you eat You trap, you kill, you eat