It Rained All Night

Alice Cooper

I'm glad it rained all night,
'Cause you would've been gone.
I'm glad it rained all night, all night, all night,
'Cause you would've been gone.
I've been looking for love my whole life long.
Searching for something to make me feel strong.
I might be your lover, then I might be wrong.

Yeah!
I lost it all that night.
I felt my world go black.
Lost my heart, my soul, my mind, my sight.
Put a knife in my back.
Let it rain!

Nasty dark clouds brewing over head.
Oh, bring yourself in here;
I'll give you shelter from the raging storm.
You'll be so safe, I'm so sincere.

I felt that pain all night,
Since you've been gone.
I know that pain alright, alright, alright.
Where you were gone,
I've been searching for love to ease the pain.
The hunger and the knife that's in this chain.
Thank the thunder and the lightnin' for making it rain.

I'm glad it rained all night,
'Cause you would've been gone.
I'm glad it rained all night, night, night, night, night, night,
'Cause you would've been gone.
You know I would've been gone,
A thousand miles away,
And I would've just left through another day.
You know you stop my heart, you make me shake.
Don't you know that your an angel, and my soul is at stake?

I'm glad it rained all night, all night, all night,
Or you would've been gone.
You would've been real gone.
You would've been on your way.
You would've hit the night, going ninety-
five, and I'd never see you again.
Oh, let it rain!
Oh, let it rain!
Come on, let it rain!

Lightning and thunder, great big storm.
Come on, babe, let me keep you warm.
