

Stolen Prayer

Alice Cooper

1. I walk the streets alone on feeble bones I ride my sins are etched in stone I got no place to hide well, I was unshakable in what I did believe I feel so breakable but have I been deceived 2. You showed me your paradise and your carnival of souls but my heart keeps telling me that ain't the place to go well, I'm not invincible so I want you to leave well, I'm so convincible but have I been deceived
- R: I take your words and try them on yeah, it's a perfect fit, boy you tell me one size fits us all yeah, like an old straight jacket well, tell me why I'm so afraid all my words are spoken
all my words are spoken
all my words are spoken
in a stolen prayer
3. I remember yesterday when things were black and white never thought I'd get confused on what was wrong and right well, I'm not unbreakable with armor on my skin well, it's not unthinkable I could be fooled again

R: Well, I take your words and try them on yeah...

(Solo)

You steal another minute of my life you cut a little deeper with your knife you steal a little breath from my air and you don't care and even though I'm choking all my words are spoken

I take your words and try them on yeah, it's a perfect fit, boy
you tell me one size fits us all yeah, like an old straight jacket take this world and try it on man, you're lookin' good boy stick your neck out on the block so you won't miss nothing stretch your finger, grab your hair don't you feel like screaming feel the blood rush from your veins now you're a perfect zombie now I'm down on my knees
all my words are spoken
all my words are spoken
all my words are spoken
all my words are spoken
all my words are spoken
in a stolen prayer
