

All I Am

Alice In Chains

Cannot recognize the face before me
It's unfamiliar
Time has left me broken down and homely
Can you still see me undisguised?

Outside the window of your eyes
Clinging to the memory of your prime
After many years the road you wandered
Left you here alone, deprived of others

On your toes or on your heels
There's a line drawn on the floor
Where the blood has dried there is no shine
Have another go my friend
You see I can't feel any more
While you question just who the hell am I

Is this all I am?
Given all I can?
Is this all I am?

Till the end of time
Never knowing why

Ghosts and damage no advantage for me
I'm past believing
Understand the price you pay disarming
When you can leave it all behind

Outside the window of your eyes
Clinging to the memory of your prime
After many years the road you wandered

On your toes or on your heels
There's a hole worn in the floor
Where the blood has dried there is no shine
Have another go my friend
You see I can't feel any more
While you question just who the hell am I

Is this all I am?
Given all I can?
Is this all I am?

Till the end of time
Never knowing why

Cannot recognize the face before me
It's unfamiliar
