

Heartbreaker Pt. 2

Alice Russell

You say that love was just a feeling
You said it couldn't really touch your heart
But when it set your pose a reeling
From that moment it could tear you apart

The part it holds, so mighty
Could bring a nation to its knees ,over night ye
Can make a king sail off to enemy seas
Like he has not a care in this world

If a broken heart is what you give
Then a broken heart is what you get
If a broken heart is what you give
Remember, then a broken heart is what you get

So can you tell me, does love last?
How can we know as our time will come
And tell me can one ever save another
Or are we just holding on, on, on

If a broken heart is what you give
Then a broken heart is what you get
If a broken heart is what you give
Remember, then a broken heart is what you get

It's a red beating knuckle but it's keeping us alive
Each day we always struggle with the thought of what's inside
Today simple kisses, we'll be loaded with regret

When it falls, when it breaks
Who spills right open
When it falls, when it breaks
It's best just to the ground
When it falls, when it breaks
The landscape all for love escape
When it falls, when it breaks
Huuuu
When it falls, when it breaks

If a broken heart is what you give
Then a broken heart is what you get
If a broken heart is what you give
Remember, then a broken heart is what you get
If a broken heart is what you give
Then a broken heart is what you get
If a broken heart is what you give
Remember, then a broken heart is what you get
