

When the Morning Comes

Alkemyst

No question will remain unanswered
When I'm gone
There is nothing I should fear
(Nothing I should fear)
I've been trying hard, fightin' my way
Back for so long
Shadows of the past sorrows are
Now forever gone
Finally I've reached ashore
I'm tired of denying my fate

Now I'm at peace with myself
No grudge for anyone
There's no more reason for hatred
No more no more...

I know for sure
Days follow the nights
From death well be brought back to life
Life is more than breathing in and out
Carrying away is part of the art

My cards have already been laid on the table
Now I know my time has come:
I'll die when the morning comes

Now I'm at peace with myself ...

I know for sure ...

Down to the river I go, down below
To the river of lost souls, this is my
Shelter, my home
Down to the river I go, down below
Where the grass has never grown

Please hear these last words
Please hear an old man's last words
I'll leave it all behind me!
(Hatred, resentment, deceit)

Let me share my last words
With the rest of you folks
Please hear my last words
Remember, remember as I will be gone
Hope will live on

I know for sure ...
