Are You Lonely

All About Eve

Do you feel so small On Sunday afternoon In your loveless house Full of empty rooms

Once a place of life Once upon a time Flames are dying out While ghosts move in Crossing on the stair Asleep in empty chairs Tell me... are you lonely ?

And if we believe wisdom comes with years As knowledge stings our eyes The easier the tears Cradled in the sadness, a heart that ever aches

I'm praying with all mine I won't make the same mistakes Are the dark seeds there In the blood we share

Tell me... are you lonely ?

While love lives, while suns set While snow moons rise in November skies While ties bind while souls cry While oceans ride in an endless tide

While love grows, while blood flows While truth is real you need never feel alone

What seems to hurt the most Is giving up the ghost So tell me... are you lonely ?
