

Blind Lemon Sam

All About Eve

Lady Jane had a castle in Spain,
Caviar and a second car
'Cause she's married to a film star
Children they had, always good never bad
Life's peach, she had one of each
And a house beside the beach.
Oh Jane, you'd better wake yourself
And shake yourself on up
Look in a looking-glass
And see the past you know.
So many fingers pull at the fabric of your dreams,
And by the sundial it seems,
Time's come to live a real life.

Blind Lemon Sam, he's a bluesman
He lives in a shack by the rail track
And Janie's got her bags packed
She's moving in 'cause she believes she loves him.
Life begun and they had some fun
And they made a lot of love
And raised a son.
You'd better pinch yourself
Convince yourself it's real
You'd better look around at the happiness you found.

Sam passed away,
and Janie cried all day.
She turned for love to the Lord above
'Cause that's all she could think of to do.
