Blind Lemon Sam

All About Eve

Lady Jane had a castle in Spain, Caviar and a second car 'Cause she's married to a film star Children they had, always good never bad Life's peach, she had one of each And a house beside the beach. Oh Jane, you'd better wake yourself And shake yourself on up Look in a looking-glass And see the past you know. So many fingers pull at the fabric of your dreams, And by the sundial it seems, Time's come to live a real life.

Blind Lemon Sam, he's a bluesman He lives in a shack by the rail track And Janie's got her bags packed She's moving in 'cause she believes she loves him. Life begun and they had some fun And they made a lot of love And raised a son. You'd better pinch yourself Convince yourself it's real You'd better look around at the happiness you found.

Sam passed away, and Janie cried all day. She turned for love to the Lord above 'Cause that's all she could think of to do.
