Drowning

All About Eve

Reaching out a hand There's a hand you want to hold When the night feels blue The hand feels cold

The fog takes my breath But we've got to keep breathing now Gonna live to tell the tale Gonna live to tell the tale

The drowning man And the drowning lady They're soaked to the skin Clean like ivy "I can't let you go" she says, "Hold me now - keep me alive"

The fog comes down And stars fall down The moon leaves the sky Can't ask why Got to keep dreaming Leave me now Safely in your arms Felt like home I want to go home now Gonna live to tell the tale
