And Death in My Arms

All That Remains

And death lay in my arms as colors fade From gold to gray

Gray now broken my foolishness displayed Hands tight around her throat this violent loving embrace

Lying restful safe in my arms
Steady rhythm trust she'll come to no harm
Feel her tremble as the nightmares begin
Sleep the horror and the nightmare, it ends

I hear her whisper a sweet sound fanning the flames These thoughts consume me and leave me wallowing

Gray now broken my foolishness displayed Hands tight around her throat this violent loving embrace My fingers tremble her lips move silently One last I love you crush my resolve again

Lying restful safe in my arms
Steady rhythm trust she'll come to no harm
Feel her tremble as the nightmares begin
Sleep the horror and the nightmare, it ends