Shading

All That Remains

I've seen through the shading And down to what's within Reaching you will feel me

Lost and alone You said I was what you were looking for So why do I feel so empty

And it seemed so real Pulled from my grasp taken away Am I nothing in your eyes Reaching out I feel You were pulling away, never letting me in I am nothing in your eyes

Day in day out I see you live your life again A fool I stand here in waiting In letters words and pictures You profess your love to me And to the last they were lies

The malice I should feel for you deceitfulness Some how always escapes me And in the shading Between the words you said to me I know I'd be left empty
