

Keep The Change, You Filthy Animal

All Time Low

Are you having trouble finding sleep at night?
Or does your lack of conscience tell you everything's alright
I trust your good intentions that you're watching over friend
You must think that I'm crazy if I don't see through that plan

So tell me what your best friend knows that I don't know
Tell me why you talk me down wherever you go
You're a saint, you're a queen
And I'm just another boy without a crown
Tell me why you sell me out every where you go
I just wanna know what your best friend knows
What your best friend knows

So vindictive you'll say anything you like
The smile you fake, the steps you take
You know you never could get it right
Talk is cheep so make believe your secrets find a grave
Its to late you gave up your last chance to walk away

So tell me what your best friend knows that I don't know
Tell me why you talk me down wherever you go
You're a saint, you're a queen
And I'm just another boy without a crown
Tell me why you sell me out every where you go
I just wanna know what your best friend knows

You stand a little to tall, say a little to much
Gonna bite that know it all tongue
You tried a little to hard now I'm calling that bluff
Big plans are coming undone
That's just typical, you're so cynical
Couldn't have me, I didn't want you
You're selling me out to the girl I can't afford to lose

Stand a little to tall, say a little to much
Gonna bite that know it all tongue
Tried a little to hard now I'm calling that bluff
Big plans are coming undone
That's just typical, you're so cynical
Couldn't have me, I didn't want you
You set yourself up to lose

So tell me what your best friend knows that I don't know
Tell me why you talk me down wherever you go
You're a saint, you're a queen
And I'm just another boy without a crown
Tell me why you sell me out every where you go
I just wanna know what your best friend knows

What your best friend knows
I'm ever gonna let this go
What your best friend knows