The Revenge

I want you to feel it in your bones Want you to feel all of my pain See all the demons in the world that you created I want you to live one of my days Want you to dream one of my dreams Time has come for you to feel what I feel

I can remember now everything you ever said to me I can recall the pain And now the time has come I can remember now All the words that made me disappear I can recall the pain And now the time has come For my revenge

Do you believe I will forget Do you think that I won't see All the lies that you are hiding behind Now is your turn to live in fear Now is your turn to hide in the dark The time has come for you to feel what I feel Allen-Lande