

No One Else

Allison Iraheta

I got myself to blame for this
Got myself to blame for my difficult days
And my typical ways but you,
You know how to let things slide
I'm all perfect in your eyes
You don't see- all the damage in me,
And

There's SIMPLY no one else
In the world that I could ever find
Likes me when I'm low
And still tolerates me when I'm high
You, you got me down
You kept comin 'round
There's simply no one else
I could lean on a thousand times,
Still be there again, and again
And never lose his mind,
You know me so well,
That you can't even tell,
That your like no one else...
That your like no one else...

No, nothings ever what it seems,
But you always seem to be
Who you are; even when it gets hard
And
You, let me kick ya to the floor
And you still come back for more.
You're too good
What did I do to deserve, you

There's simply no one else
In the world that I could ever find
Likes me when I'm low
And still tolerates me when I'm high
You, you got me down
You kept comin 'round
There's simply no one else
I could lean on a thousand times,
Still be there again, and again
And never lose his mind,
You know me so well,
That you can't even tell,
That your like no one else...
That your like no one else...

I told you I'd never love you
You said that it would be okay
You had enough love for us anyway
I told you I'd never need you
But oh you proved me wrong again
And I pray to god that never ends...

There's simply one else
In the world that I could ever find
Likes me when I'm low

And still tolerates me when I'm high
You, you got me down
You kept comin 'round
There's simply no one else
I could lean on a thousand times,
Still be there again, and again, and again.
And never lose his mind,
You know me so well,
That you can't even tell,
That your like no one else...
That your like no one else...

You know me so well
You can't even tell
That your like no one else
That your like no one else