

A Soft Place To Fall

Allison Moorer

Daylight has found me, here again
You can ask me anything
But where I've been
Things that used to matter
Seem so small
When you're looking for
A soft place to fall

Don't misunderstand me, baby please
I didn't mean to bring back memories
You should know the reason why I called
I was looking for
A soft place to fall

Looking for a soft place
Nothing more than a small taste
Of a love that ended long ago
Looking for a place to hide
Warm bed on a cold night
I didn't mean to hurt you
No no no

Looking out your window at the dawn
Baby, when you wake up, I'll be gone
You're the one who taught me, after all
How to find a soft place to fall
You're the one who taught me, after all
How to find a soft place to fall