Late Night in '85

It's cold out here Silence screams inside my head The sound of trees Fills my ears with memories

Chapters of life Lost in the stars Late night in '85 My childhood then slept forever

And I bleed for unreal wounds And I bleed for unreal wounds

You know I'm here You know I'm still your biggest friend You know my fears And all my goals along the way

Chapters of life Lost in the stars Late night in '85 My childhood then slept forever

And I bleed for unreal wounds And I bleed for unreal wounds And I still run away From myself everyday And I bleed for unreal wounds

You lived by my side Long enough to be loving you You taught me to be who I am Suddenly as rain You came and went away

And I bleed for unreal wounds And I bleed for unreal wounds And I still run away From myself everyday And I bleed for unreal wounds
