

For a Million

Alphaville

Oh, I love to dance
Under an alien sun
Along the dunes with you
I kiss you in the sand
We give so that we live
Beside the sleepy snakes
They dream of you and me
When will they ever end?

For a million years they dream
For a million years they dream
And the fog conceals and hides and eats our souls
Before they open up their eyes again
How far we'll be
Remember me

Won't stop loving you
Although it seems to be
Our time is running out
I'm leaving you behind
No matter what they say
We'd never meet again
Our love is bigger
Than our lives

For a million years they dream
For a million years they dream
And the fog conceals and hides and eats our souls
Before they open up their eyes again
How far we'll be
Remember me

(And we know that yesterday)
(The moon was brown)
(And that today it is black)
(And that tomorrow it is red)
(And we know that when we go to the Sun)
(The Moon comes along) (hello there!)
(And the cows in the pasture graze)
(And we know that we know what we know)
(Is it truth?)