

Romeos

Alphaville

There's a boy
With a little black dog
There's a boy
With a little black dog
And he looks
At his watch
For a while

And the falling years
Wash away his make up
And the falling years
Wash away his make up
Just like rain
On the fading snow

He's a lonesome streetside romeo
You can see him from your windows tonite
This world's a divided place, you know
He's awaiting you
He's a lonesome streetside romeo
You can see him from your windows tonite
This world's a divided place, you know
He's awaiting you

All the boys
Are locked in a fortress
All the girls
Are locked in a fortress
Just because
It's a crime
It could be
It could be

Flesh and blood
In iron and steel
Flesh and blood
In iron and steel
Just because
It's a crime
It could be
It could be

We're all lonesome streetside romeos
You can see us from your windows tonite
This world's a divided place, you know
We're awaiting you
We're all lonesome streetside romeos
You can see us from your windows tonite
This world's a divided place, you know
We're awaiting you

We're all lonesome streetside romeos
You can see us from your windows tonite
This world's a divided place, you know
We're awaiting you
We're all lonesome streetside romeos
You can see us from your windows tonite

This world's a divided place, you know
We're awaiting you

La la la la la la la
We chose a different side
We chose a different side, a different side
(We're all lonesome streetside romeos)
(This world's a divided place, you know)
We chose a different side, a different side
(We're all lonesome streetside romeos)
This world's a divided place, you know
(This world's a divided place, you know)
We're awaiting you, we're awaiting you
(We're all lonesome streetside romeos)
We all change our points of view sometimes
We're awaiting you
You can see us from your windows tonite
A different side
(This world's a divided place, you know)
(We're awaiting you)
Awaiting you
