Romeos

Alphaville

There's a boy
With a little black dog
There's a boy
With a little black dog
And he looks
At his watch
For a while

And the falling years Wash away his make up And the falling years Wash away his make up Just like rain
On the fading snow

He's a lonesome streetside romeo
You can see him from your windows tonite
This world's a divided place, you know
He's awaiting you
He's a lonesome streetside romeo
You can see him from your windows tonite
This world's a divided place, you know
He's awaiting you

All the boys
Are locked in a fortress
All the girls
Are locked in a fortress
Just because
It's a crime
It could be
It could be

Flesh and blood
In iron and steel
Flesh and blood
In iron and steel
Just because
It's a crime
It could be
It could be

We're all lonesome streetside romeos
You can see us from your windows tonite
This world's a divided place, you know
We're awaiting you
We're all lonesome streetside romeos
You can see us from your windows tonite
This world's a divided place, you know
We're awaiting you

We're all lonesome streetside romeos You can see us from your windows tonite This world's a divided place, you know We're awaiting you We're all lonesome streetside romeos You can see us from your windows tonite This world's a divided place, you know We're awaiting you

La la la la la la We chose a different side La la la la la la We chose a different side, a different side (We're all lonesome streetside romeos) We chose a different side (This world's a divided place, you know) We chose a different side, a different side (We're all lonesome streetside romeos) This world's a divided place, you know (This world's a divided place, you know) We're awaiting you, we're awaiting you (We're all lonesome streetside romeos) We chose a different side We all change our points of view sometimes We're awaiting you You can see us from your windows tonite A different side A different side (This world's a divided place, you know) (We're awaiting you) Awaiting you
