

Crawling

Alvik

Have you ever
Been lost with another person by your side
I feel the light
Crawling back into my senses

Have you ever lost your mind
Felt the cold hush slip back into your heart

Must have been good
Must have been so high that I could have died
And nothing you could ever do could take away the reasons why I
've tried

Pieces falling
And I'm crawling
Just to pick up and start again

And it's just your way to find out
If I'm only playing with you
I see your handwriting all over it
I want to breathe into you
But it feels like it's so much better
If you take the flip side and just play it on the reverse

Pieces falling
And I'm crawling
Just to pick up and start again