Homeless Heart

Amanda Stott

Lonesome stranger With a crowd around you I see who you are

You joke, they laugh Til the show is over Then you fall so hard

If you're needing A soul-to-soul connection I'll run to your side

When you're lost in the dark When you're out in the cold When you're looking for something that resembles your soul When the wind blows your house of cards I'll be a home to your homeless heart

Open close me Leave your secrets with me I can ease your pain

And my arms will be Just like walls around you Come in from the rain

If you're running In the wrong direction I will lead you back

When you're lost in the dark When you're out in the cold When you're looking for something that resembles your soul When the wind blows your house of cards I'll be a home to your homeless heart

Broken Shattered like a mirror In a million pieces Sooner or later You've got to find Something someone To find you and save you

When you're lost in the dark When you're out in the cold When you're looking for something that resembles your soul When the wind blows your house of cards I'll be a home to your homeless heart

When you're looking for something that resembles your soul When the wind blows your house of cards I'll be a home to your homeless heart

I'll be a home to your homeless heart
