Can't Hold Back

I've come to accept The fact from my head I'm lost and alone in this life that I've led I'll figure this out It's summers away A choice that may leave me with no room to say

If it happens it happens and I'll feel the same Can't hold back on the choices I made If it happens it happens and I'll be the same Can't hold back on the choices I made that day

I've come to accept The things that I see I've read every word, every line, everything Just say what you will Just tell me I'm scared I won't let you down for the moment I'm in

If it happens it happens and I'll feel the same Can't hold back on the choices I made If it happens it happens and I'll be the same Can't hold back on the choices I made that day

If it happens it happens and I'll feel the same Can't hold back on the choices I made If it happens it happens and I'll be the same Can't hold back on the choices I made If it happens it happens and I'll feel the same Can't hold back on the choices I made If it happens it happens and I'll be the same Can't hold back on the choices I made that day
