

Summer (In B)

Amber Pacific

It's time to fake what you say, as you're turning away
Though it's hard to be fake, facing you every day
With regret, with remorse for the things that were said
But you know how alone we'll end up in the end

'Cause I don't want to see our lives destroyed by dismay
In these times of try, we live or die again

You're my summer that fades, to these cold autumn days
You're my keepsake, my friend, and my fears
You're the strength that's inside and I swear on my life
I will always be there by your side

It's hard to live without love with the chance that you may Find the whole world is waiting to hear what you say
From the heart through your veins to the answers that came Here to save me, to guide me, to show me the way

So I don't want to see our lives destroyed by dismay
In these times of try, we live or die again

So take this time to see that I
Can't leave this all to chance
So take this time to see that I
Have hope that lies will end

I will always be there by your side
I will always be there by your side
