Everyone I Meet Is From California

America

Heaven may be an answer

If you're lookin' for Eden in the sky

On your waters I see a strange reflection

Rumor has it I'll see you when I die

Everyone I meet is from California There's dancin' in the streets in California

In California you watch the shadow dancer Floating gently, gently on the sea In California you're such a strange romancer Come and see me when the world has set you free

Everyone I meet is from California There's dancin' in the streets in California

Everyone I meet is from California There's dancin' in the streets in California
