Song For The Suspect

American Head Charge

I can still watch those eyes crawling over her dress until I could show you everything but I dont have to hear the words cause I already feel your thoughts so it comes as no surprise that all the intent is real all the suspects are right if we stop it all falls down cover my eyes obey my ignorance to purify you Ill only watch you rot without malicious intent your doubt resembles someone else stick the needles in me stick the needles in [3x]if we watch it all come down breathe and let it go dropped and winding fuck your confession fuck your confusion dissolve my insides make it hide crawling on diginity that which you do to me hold on forever the fair day we weather