

Carry The Sorrow

American Hi-Fi

This time I'm on to you
You should know this time it's personal
I'm not immune to your disease and you found, a thousand ways to make me bleed
And so I start again, and think of me however you like
You brought me to my knees, it's alright
I need a reason to believe

Until then I'll carry the sorrow
We've been living here on borrowed time never knowing if it's our last mistake
Draw the battle lines and wait 'til you break
You'll always be a part of me

If I can't find a way
If I can't change the locks in your heart
There's nothing more to say it's all gone
I need a reason to believe

Until then I'll carry the sorrow
And I'll make it a part of myself
We've been living here on borrowed time never knowing if it's our last
Draw the battle lines and wait 'til you break
You'll always be a part of me

There was a way you could've changed my mind
That was yesterday and yesterday's gone
Where does love go when it's all gone wrong?
You'll always be a part of me

What you say and what you do
I don't believe
Cut me open watch me bleed
What you say and what you do
I don't believe
Caught you lying through your teeth

This time I'm on to you
You should know this time it's personal

We've been living here on borrowed time never knowing if it's our last
Draw the battle lines and wait 'til you break
You'll always be a part of me

That was yesterday and yesterday's gone
Where does love go when it's all gone wrong?
You'll always be a part of me
