Crack in a Stone

Amorphis

In the North, a prisoner of darkness In black court, a victim of sleep Slither like a snake I tried A mole under the soil

A king, a fool trapped in a strange land A slave of the black queen I was under the darkest magic Bound by an unknown spell

The one crack in the stone I need Just the one, one fracture in the wall Just the one hole in the sky I need Just the one lock with the key

An otter lost in muddy waters An elk upon strange trail A prisoner in black court A victim of sleep in lands of dark

One path there to be known One sign in a dream In time just one direction One star in my mind

The one crack in the stone I need Just the one, one fracture in the wall Just the one hole in the sky I need Just the one lock with the key

Just the one in the stone I need Just the one, one fracture in the wall Just the one hole in the sky I need Just the one lock with the key

One path One sign One star One lock One key One crack in the stone
