

Living Together

Amy Dalley

pay the bills cut the grass someone forgot the trash all the talks we've had about the toll the saved a few anniversaries, fights and appologies sontimes what love needs is a good referee im his best friend, im his room mate im his partner, im his wife hes standard date for dinner that stays over everynight being married aint the struggle you could stay that way forever the hardest part is living together stack of plates whose turn is it anyway that frozen chicken aint gonna cook itself how much did that cost? who forgot to walk the dog? ones about to freeze to death ones about to melt

you could stay that way forever

its beautiful its ugly its passionate its dont touch me its being stubborn its giving in wakin up to do it all again

you could stay that way forever

you could stay that way forever
