Between the Cheats

Amy Winehouse

I would die before I divorce ya I'd take a thousand thumps for my love 'Cause you kissed a lucky horseshoe Stuck it in my boxing glove

Does anyone who will listen up To our victories and dumb defeats Knows they all take you to the cleaners If you come between the cheats

Between the cheats Between the cheats Between the cheats

My husband is the finest handsome hustler And he still makes this housewife blush So I go with him, my hand flicks I'm sitting on the royal flush

Women drink him in, swim in him with green eyes Then go home and cash the chips you've got And here maybe two, oh two bottles of The jack of hearts is my jackpot

Between the cheats Between the cheats Between the cheats

Cause we all have to lock eyes And I know is my heart beat There's a winning secret to both And it's sworn between the cheats

Between the cheats Between the cheats Between the cheats