

To Sketch Memories In Stars

Amyst

I've always slept better when you're sleeping,
Better when you're next to me,
And this isn't getting any easier,
Can you feel my breath from across the sea,

If I start swimming now is it to late to meet you,
I'm not saying that I don't want this,
If you stay on the surface I swear I'll reach you,

So bottle yourself up and leave just air to breathe,
Follow the stars, they guide you to shore,
They guide you to me,

If I start swimming now is it to late to meet you,
I'm not saying that I don't want this,
If you stay on the surface I swear I'll reach you,

And all of the waves start to rise up around us,
They look down on you and wait for you to tell me that its over and break my heart
As the waves crash down, look me in the eyes,
As the water fills your lungs,
So I can watch a bitch drown
