

Leave Well Enough Alone Aka: High Maintenance You

Ana Popovic

You're my day job, my overtime and nightshift too
Even on my lunch breaks You've got me working on you You're my job security
My high maintenance you

You take my weekends and Monday to Friday too even all my spare-time I got to spend on you no matter what time zone - it's your time Heavily rely on you

You need to learn to leave well enough alone
You need to learn to leave well enough alone
When nothing is going wrong
you need to learn to leave well enough alone

You count my hours, but minutes and seconds too I'm on your time clock, your punch clock and now you want me on a finger print reader too you had me install video surveillance to check up on me too

You've got me working shifts day, night and graveyard too to stay in demand, keep up with the work on the non-set hours too
you're my job security
my high maintenance you