Dream Again

I don't dream anymore Yes, they just seem to fade Always stripping me so clean... Deserting me

I strive to retain my goals And try to achieve a certain life So I can at last be free Once again allowed to dream

I try hard to keep my hold So as not to drift away Still, I cling to hope in vain... To dull the pain

I strive to retain my goals And achieve a certain life So I can at last be free Once again allowed to dream

Someday I'll understand These aspirations at hand

I strive to retain my goals And try to achieve a certain life So I can at last be free Once again allowed to dream

Someday I'll understand These aspirations at hand Someday I finally will see My ambition's mortality... Someday... Anacrusis