

Ghosts in the Machine

Anavae

Out of every story
Why did you have to pick the same one?
Explain me this.
Where is it then?
This might be important to you
You may have planned out what you wanted

And I'm erasing it as I go along
It's funny how they expect me to know who I am

So how to keep the light
In your voice
How to keep it alive
How to lie awake at night

You picked her on the warmest day of this winter
Chasing shadows on the street
Catching eyelines so intently
I don't think we're on the same page any more
I've turned a few
And bent over the corners

Trying to feel something new Something at all
Blame it all on me
When you pass on the same
Old same, old lines

Keep the light
In your voice
How to keep it alive
How to lie awake at night

Keep the light
In your voice
How to keep it alive
How to lie awake at night

Scream from the platform that you raised
Oh, under my feet
But you can break it down
Faster than we're building
We're falling

Keep the light
In your voice
How to keep it alive
How to lie awake at night

Keep the light
In your voice
How to keep it alive
How to lie awake at night
