

Modern Age

Anberlin

Why so afraid to fall that was then this is now
Horizons look different in a modern age
Are we all lost, are we all lost again
Fall asleep alone safer than the off chance
Of getting your heart attacked one more time
Will you ever come, will you ever come alive again?

Don't we all want to belong
Don't we all write our own song
Let our silence brave tonight
Don't we all learn right from wrong
And don't we all want to be loved
Let our silence brave tonight

Come now elusive sign open up their eyes to see
So many of us are just the same as you
Have we all hid, have we all hid ourselves from friends
So much else to give this is her and that is him
Close your eyes imagine them holding you
Will you ever find, will you ever find the words again

Don't we all want to belong
Don't we all write our own song
Let our silence brave tonight
Don't we all learn right from wrong
And don't we all want to be loved
Let our silence brave tonight
(Let our silence brave tonight)

There is so much less we have to lose here
The more we give away
Futures will never keep their promises
If all we hold is yesterday

Let our silence brave tonight

Don't we all want to belong
Don't we all write our own song
Let our silence brave tonight
Don't we all learn right from wrong
And don't we all want to be loved
Let our silence brave tonight
(Let our silence brave tonight)
