

It Happened Last Night

And One

Fate would have it that she goes
She takes a breath to talk
Rain beats on the windows
Can't move her feet to walk

A shining light
It shines so bright

She takes her golden cross she says
Time to pass away
She looks heavenwards to pray
To reach a better world today

Sick and tired of it
Cancer blows her mind
You've got to answer for that
But you got it blind
